

Number one for corporate mobile phone recycling

The mobile phone is possibly the most popular single personal item in the world. It is estimated that there are more phones than people in the UK alone! As technology advances, so too does the demand for the latest mobile phone and this often results in a stock of retired handsets accumulating at the home or office when people upgrade handsets.

ShP Limited operates the UK's leading and most established reuse and recycling service for corporate mobile phones.

With over 10 years experience in the industry, we've developed our service in line with client expectations to make it as rewarding and environmentally friendly as possible.

Servicing businesses of all shapes and sizes, many of the world's leading brands, Governments, Public Sector clients and charities, our recycling service has helped recover, recycle or reuse more than 1.5million mobile phones.
